DESCRIBE THE PRESENT AND ORIGINAL (IF KNOWN) PHYSICAL APPEARANCE

This small farmhouse is located on the side of a steep wooded bluff which rises abruptly from the east side of Maryland Route 66, south of Mt. Aetna Road. The house faces west and the barn south. The buildings are reached by a steep curving dirt lane and have a secluded, scenic setting.

The house is a two part structure, its front section being a two story, two bay balloon frame building sheathed with German siding. Extending perpendicular to this part of the house is a one and a half story, two bay section possibly built of log and also sheathed with German siding. It has a massive exterior stone fire box which narrows into a relatively small brick chimney.

Windows have two over two pane sashes trimmed with turn of the century period architraves with flat top pieces.

A shed roofed porch supported with small turned posts extends along the north wall of each section. A smaller front entrance porch is also present.

Northeast of the house is a frame bank barn which stands beside a wooded meadow. The property contains 58.233 acres.
